FOR "CAMP ROOSEVELT"

Spanish War Vets
Organize a Post.

TANNATT IS COMMANDER

Application for Charter in the National Association Goes on the Doric.

CAMP ROOSEVELT, named in honor of the President, the first branch of the National Association of Spanish-American War Veterans to be formed in the Pacific Ocean between San Francisco and Manila, was duly organized last night in the office of E. Tappan Tannatt, late lieutenant of the Second Volunteer Engineers. The application for the charter goes forward on January 31, on the steamship Doric, to Adjutant General William C. Liller, Lancaster, Pa., together with the names of the post officers, who were also elected at the meeting. Within a few weeks the charter may be expected here, and authority given to some veteran of the late war to muster in the members of the camp. The charter includes the names of twenty-five men who enlisted their services either for the Spanish-American war or the subsequent insurrection in the Philippines.

The first post commander of Camp Roosevelt is E. Tappan Tannatt. He was chosen temporary chairman of the meeting when the gathering was called to order, and, as it is due to his efforts that the organizing of a camp in Honolulu was brought to the attention of the local veterans, he was unanimously elected to the highest office therein. The full list of officers, as elected, is as follows: E. Tappan Tannatt, post commander; J. H. Flynn, senior vice commander; Isaac Lando, junior vice commander; G. Seyde, adjutant; H. Ruff, quartermaster; David Dunlap, chaplain; F. A. Simpson, officer of the guard; A. E. Barth, officer of the day.

The National Association of the Spanish-American War Veterans is the outcome of the war with Spain, and occupies the same position to the Spanish American War as the Grand Army of the Republic does to the Civil War. There are several organizations of similar character to the Spanish War Association, and the hope is expressed that in time there will be a consolidation of all into the one to which the Honolulu veterans have given their allegiance. The organization is conceded to have a greater strength than all the others combined, having 150 camps in thirty-four States of the Union, all in a flourishing condition, with upwards of 200 camps in process of organization.

The name of the Association is the official title given to the late war by the United States government. Its officers do not have military titles, but have adopted those used by the Grand Army of the Republic. The Adjutant General of the Association states that the names and prominence of officers who have accepted the command of Departments in various States is a guarantee of stability. The National Council of Administration is as follows: General Fitzhugh Lee, General J. P. S. Gobin, Col. Geo. M. Studebaker, Col. Samuel M. Welch, Jr., Lieut. Col. Byron H. Cook, Lieut. Col. Jack D. Frost, Major F. A. Williams, Major G. V. Packer, Major J. A. Nemitz, Captain A. S. Hutson, Major W. J. Whitthorne.

The general officers are: Commander in Chief, General Willis J. Hulings; Senior Vice Commander in Chief, Col. Jas. B. Coryell; Junior Commander in Chief, Col. Gracey Childers; Adjutant General, William C. Liller; Quartermaster General, Col. Edwin W. Hine; Inspector General, Col. George W. Taylor; Judge Advocate General, Col. Rufus M. Townsend; Surgeon General, Col. Victor C. Vaughan; Commissary General, Capt. Frank S. Clark; Chief of Ordnance, Capt. John Baker White; Chief of Artillery, Lieut. Col. William J. Fife; Chief of Engineers, Col. Richard Henry Savage; Chief Signal Officer, Col. James Perry Fyffe; Chaplain in Chief, Capt. Charles H. Jones.

The Hawaiian Islands constitute a department in themselves, and any other camps subsequently organized will take second rank with Camp Roosevelt. Until the charter is received from the Adjutant General, nothing will be done by the local organization toward enlarging the membership. When the charter and the list of officers has been approved and returned to Honolulu, and the mustering officer invests the camp with authority to be an integral part of the National Association, other applications can be filed. These are subject to the inspection and investigation by the camp officers and the ballot of the charter members, who have, under the National by-laws, the right to black-ball any applicant whose army record may not be above reproach.

REALISTIC.

Mamma—"For goodness sake, Elsie, why are you shouting in that disgraceful fashion? Why don't you keep quiet, like Willie?"
Elsie—"He has to keep quiet, the way we're playing. He's papa coming home late and I'm you."—Philadelphia Press.
